FRIDAY, AUGUST 7, 1890.

A week has passed and for a wonder there have been no statements or denials as to the health of James G. Blaine.

The way to nominate Blaine is to nominate him. Why all this talk every quadrennial. By 1890 or 1892 the people will get tired.

Delaware, being the first state in the Union to adopt the federal constitution, has been given the first choice of position at the World's Fair for their state buildings.

We are in hopes we might chronicle the arrest of the perpetrator of the atrocious crime in New Hampshire. Almy; but the road by which he went to Hanover and that by which he left, is undiscovered.

Bottom.

It is a beautiful way that is going on between the Specieless Philadelphia Company and the Havemeyer Sugar Trust, and best granulated sugar has touched four cents a pound, the lowest figure at which it has ever sold. It is a good time to lay in a supply for barbers and cranberries.

More Market for American Goods.

A treaty has been consummated with Spain by which the ports of Cuba and San Domingo will be open for the reception of American products, both manufactured and agricultural, on much more favorable terms than ever before, and the present generation ought to see lines of steamers running as regularly to the West Indies and South America as they now run to Europe.

Another sphere of usefulness for women. In twenty-seven states of the Union it is eligible to office to a greater or less extent.

She is now practising at the bar, in medicine, and speaking from the platform and the pulpit, and this week one of the great Chicago lines of street railways has successfully tried the experiment of female conductors.

Color Line.

One of the questions of the week has been the "color line," which like Bonapart's ghost will not down.

In Brooklyn, "hus and brother," but with Ethiopia, who was put on the police force, and every son of "man and brother" refused to occupy the same quarters with him, and his only crime was, he was black. In Texas, a state law says separate cars shall be run on all railroads for colored persons. A conductor found himself with a crowded train and only two passengers in the "colored car," and while for once the white man begged to be allowed to occupy that car, the conductor stood up for the majesty of the law, and no white man could gain admission.

At last at Detroit, the color line came up for a good share of talk, and many delegations were sent to have forgotten that "the colored troops fought nobly," the department of Louisiana and Mississippi being especially grieved at their presence.

The Outlook.

The many men who are out of employment or working on short time are naturally very anxious as to the outcome. It would seem that unless there is a large supply of manufactured goods in the hands of Southern and Western jobbers and pedlers, that for the fall and winter trade the bears should swing to the side of the good run in all of our factories. The best estimate which can be had of the cotton crop places it at 1,300,000 bales more than last year, and 15 per cent above the average.

In all of the grain-producing states indications are, that crops will be much in excess of the average.

The New England hay crop was light, but is a small factor in the commerce of the country as compared to the great whole, and the late rains have so far helped met and roots that the shortage of hay will not be much felt. On the whole, the outlook is good for the fall and winter business.

Grand Army.

Each succeeding year for twenty-five years, has seen the annual gathering of the Grand Army of the Republic larger and larger, and the fraternal interest stronger and stronger, as the "Men in Blue" once more meet.

The gathering of the Cyclo Club, composed of riders from Randolph and Quincy visited Nantasket, Sunday. They made their headquarters at the Hotel Standard, where they had one of those fish dinners for which the house is famous.

Ben Wilkins and wife have gone to stock farm in New Hampshire, owned by Mr. Moody Merrill. Mr. Wilkins has been sick for some time and will try to get a much needed rest.

Misses Gizzie Hobart, accompanied by her cousin Mamie Hobart, has gone to Lowell to visit friends for a couple of weeks.

Prof. C. A. Dickey and family have gone to Sea View, a charming summer resort on the South Shore, until September.

A building owned by the O.C.R.C., the Charles Sumner Street, on Hollis Avenue, Mr. Woodson will move the building to a lot on Franklin St.

Mr. Roger's house on Franklin Street is bounded and the carpenters are at work shingling the roof.

The builder for the new schoolhouse is being courted from the depot.

Samuel H. Sampson and family of Brookton are visiting his father, T. W. Sampson.

The Methodist Sunday school concert in St. Mary's Church, and Prof. Henry Parker, Sunday evening was a perfect success.

Master Parker Hobart has gone to Nantasket for a week.

W. H. and Brookfield played the Peacock Hotel, Tuesday afternoon.

The weather is cool and the water 62 and 64 in favor of Whittam and Hollbrook.

The paper mill nine miles from Water-4.

The features of the game were the pitching of Pierce and the hitting of Conroy.

PENITENCE.

Life is too short, dear love, for unkind feeling. Too short for harsh reproofs or bitter tones. We two should have been gentle to each other; it would have been better for us both, had we not met.

Love of course is patient, appealing, seeked for a fault it had not known, said that my love for you so strong had grown.

Dear love, by all our parts of mutual gladness, by every tender word and fond caress, we filled our lives with such sweet happiness.

Forgive, forgive that see brief how mad.

Then may you know the highest joy of living.

The simple peace, the sweetness offorgetting.

—Janie Porter Arnold.

LOVE OF WHITE FAWN.

However it may be now; whatever of demoralization has followed the trials since

and the United States government pushed them to the belligerent life of war,

which we could not go away without sharing the same social ostracism as that meted out to her by the white sister.

When the Sioux died in and around the famous hanging grounds now known as the Pine Ridge Reservation, the tribe of Indians involved among them

as any refined white community as between the moral and the immoral woman.

Indeed, it has been said that the Sioux

were the most fanatical and the whitest

in their respect for virtue in their women;

that one of their ladies, emulating Roman heroism, killed her wife, and that one of the native girls had done the same.

Nobody knew this better than Charles

Dorr, a young Michigan man, who went to

Minnesota, in the '90's and found the advance of the white

tribe in the advance of the white

REGULAR ADVERTISEMENT

WORKS WHILE YOU SLEEP.

"I was so happy!" she said as she patted the little head with a mother's hand. "I was so happy to see my son again. I've got to find a good place and bury him. He's a good boy and left a good woman which looked horrible to me in the dim light! Dead and cold and buried in its own blood! Dead for hours! When I reached out and touched the shawl or was worn out, the mother's fingers were at the feet of the child."

"Good God! What are they doing here?"
